How to Use Your Menu Plan

Each day is a complete nutritional unit that's balanced in calories, carbohydrates, fat and protein. This balance in nutrition is created by including a variety of foods from different food groups, or food categories. We call these food categories fruits, vegetables, proteins, dairy, fats and starches. A few examples of foods in each food category are listed below, but you can check out the Club Jenny Grocery Guide for an extensive list of popular foods and the food category they count towards in your menu plan.

Fruit

Apples, bananas, grapes, oranges

Vegetables

Lettuce, carrots, bell peppers, green beans, broccoli

Protein

Lean beef, pork, fish, and chicken

Dairy

Low-fat milk and yogurt

Fat

Almonds, walnuts, avocado, olive oil

Starch

Brown rice, oatmeal, whole-grain bread, sweet potatoes

Your menu plan provides the number of servings for each food category that you will be adding to your menu each day. To add even more flavor to your day, you can add in foods we call Flavor Limited and Flavor Unlimited. These are optional add-ins like condiments, low-calorie beverages, herbs and spices. Check out the Club Jenny Grocery Guide for more information on Flavor Limited and Flavor Unlimited foods.

Your menu plan gives you the freedom and flexibility to move foods around throughout your day to where it fits best for you. We recommend trying to balance your food categories throughout the day, dividing them amongst 3 meals and 1-3 snacks each day. Check out your menu plan for an overview of a day. And don't forget you can always reach out to a coach if you need additional guidance or support in planning your menu!

How to Build Your Club Jenny Menu

Here are a few tips for making menu planning simple with Club Jenny. To get started, you'll need your Menu Plan Overview, Jenny Craig Meal Exchange Guidelines and Club Jenny Grocery Guide as reference tools (available on the Club Jenny Guides and Resources page).

1. Select the Jenny Craig entrées and snacks you plan to add to your day and record it on your Menu Plan.
2. Find the food categories for your Jenny Craig entrees and snacks in your Jenny Craig Meal Exchange Guidelines. Record and tally them up on your menu planner. Select any additional grocery foods you plan to use to complete your meal and snack (if any), then record and tally them on your menu planner too.

For example: You choose to enjoy the Jenny Craig Chicken Fajita Bowl for dinner. You check the Meal Exchange Guidelines, and it shows you that it contributes 2 Proteins, 1 Starch and 1 Fat. You write in the Chicken Fajita Bowl at dinner on your menu plan and check off 2 Proteins, 1 Starch and 1 Fat. You now will be able to see how many more Proteins, Starches and Fats you have left for the day after you eat the Jenny Craig Chicken Fajita Bowl.

3. Plan the rest of your meals and snacks with the remaining grocery foods for the day. Record and tally your choices.

4. Remember to add plenty of colorful, non-starchy veggies for satisfaction, flavor and nutrition. And don't forget about Flavor Limited and Flavor Unlimited choices like herbs, spices and low-calorie condiments.

5. Simply repeat the process for the other days of the week.

Pro Tip: Plan out a full week or a few days at a time so you are ahead of the game and more likely to stay on track.

Intermittent Fasting with Club Jenny

An intermittent fasting plan can easily be incorporated into your Club Jenny menu plan. You would start by determining how many hours each day you would want to fast and how many hours you would want to dedicate to your eating window.

We recommend trying a 14:10 intermittent fasting plan. This includes consuming all the recommended foods in your menu plan within a 10-hour eating window and fasting during the remaining 14 hours.

If you'd like to start your day off feeling less hungry, add the Nut & Honey Recharge Bar to your next Club Jenny order. You can enjoy a Recharge Bar during the last two hours of your fasting window to help curb hunger and leave you feeling satisfied longer. Count Recharge Bars as 2 Fats + 1 Protein on your menu plan.

Healthy Living

Beyond what you eat and how much activity you get, other factors can impact your weight loss.

Sleep

Regularly skimping on sleep won't just make you feel tired – research indicates it could contribute to weight gain and other health issues.

If you're struggling to get enough rest, use these tips to help you sleep sounder.

- 1. Cut off caffeine before bed. Because caffeine is a stimulant, it may prevent you from falling asleep at night. Try to avoid caffeinated beverages for 4-6 hours before you hit the hay.
- 2. Set a sleep schedule. Try to set a sleep schedule that's around the same time each day – and stick to it as closely as possible – even on weekends.
- 3. Wind down. Before you turn off the lights, try reading a book or practicing meditation to help you relax. Avoid checking your phone right before bed.

Self-Care

Two words: Treat yourself (in a healthy way, of course!). Taking care of your physical and emotional well-being is an important part of your overall health. Try a few of these tips:

- 1. Dedicate 15 minutes – Whether you wake up a few minutes early or take an extended lunch break, carve out some time to do something you enjoy.
- 2. Listen to a podcast. Want to learn more about a hobby or get lost in an unsolved mystery? There's probably a podcast for that. Tune in and get lost!
- 3. Get outdoors. Spending time surrounded by nature can be incredibly relaxing – and it's a great way to unplug.

Mindfulness

Being mindful is a practice that may help improve your life and enhance your weight loss efforts by helping you become more aware of your choices. It involves maintaining a moment-by-moment awareness of your bodily sensations, thoughts, feelings and environment.

Here are a few ways to practice being in the present moment:

- 1. Practice mindful eating. Take time to savor every bite and recognize when you're tempted to eat for reasons other than hunger. Being mindful can allow you to focus on your meal, helping you enjoy your food even more!
- 2. Find acceptance. Sometimes we can forget about our unique gifts – what makes you, you! Focus on what you like about yourself – and surround yourself with people who accept and share your values.
- 3. Visualize success. Your mind is a powerful tool. Even when your aspirations seem out of reach, visualizing them can help you refocus and may bring you one step closer to accomplishing them.
